

New Quality Assurance Program to Launch in September

Ontario's RMTs will want to watch their email inbox for details about the new Quality Assurance Program (QAP). With the launch fast approaching, here is what you will need to know.

Starting in September 2019, all RMTs will need to complete and submit program requirements through an online platform; you can do this any time between September and November 30.

Designed to meet RMTs' individual needs, the program is comprised (or made up) of two parts:

- ensuring compliance with standards, including the Standards of Practice, and
- supporting each RMT to be the best they can be.

Built on a foundation of broad-based competencies that are applicable to RMTs working in all practice settings, the program recognizes that an RMT's knowledge, skill and judgement making abilities evolve over the course of their career.

Designed to offer flexibility, opportunity and choice, the program offers RMTs a personalized approach for continuing professional development that addresses individual needs and interests.

Further details about the new Quality Assurance Program will be shared via email and the CMTO website, so stay tuned for more.
